

AND SCALE SAVE MORE WITH PERCONA DISTRIBUTION FOR MONGODB

MongoDB is open source — so why are you paying enterprise-level fees?

Don't pay for something you should get for free. Percona Distribution for MongoDB is a free and fully open source enterprise solution based on Percona Server for MongoDB and Percona Backup for MongoDB. It maximizes database performance and minimizes your technology spend.

Percona Distribution for MongoDB ensures reliability and high-performance for companies that want to run MongoDB without being tied to specific expensive proprietary software options.

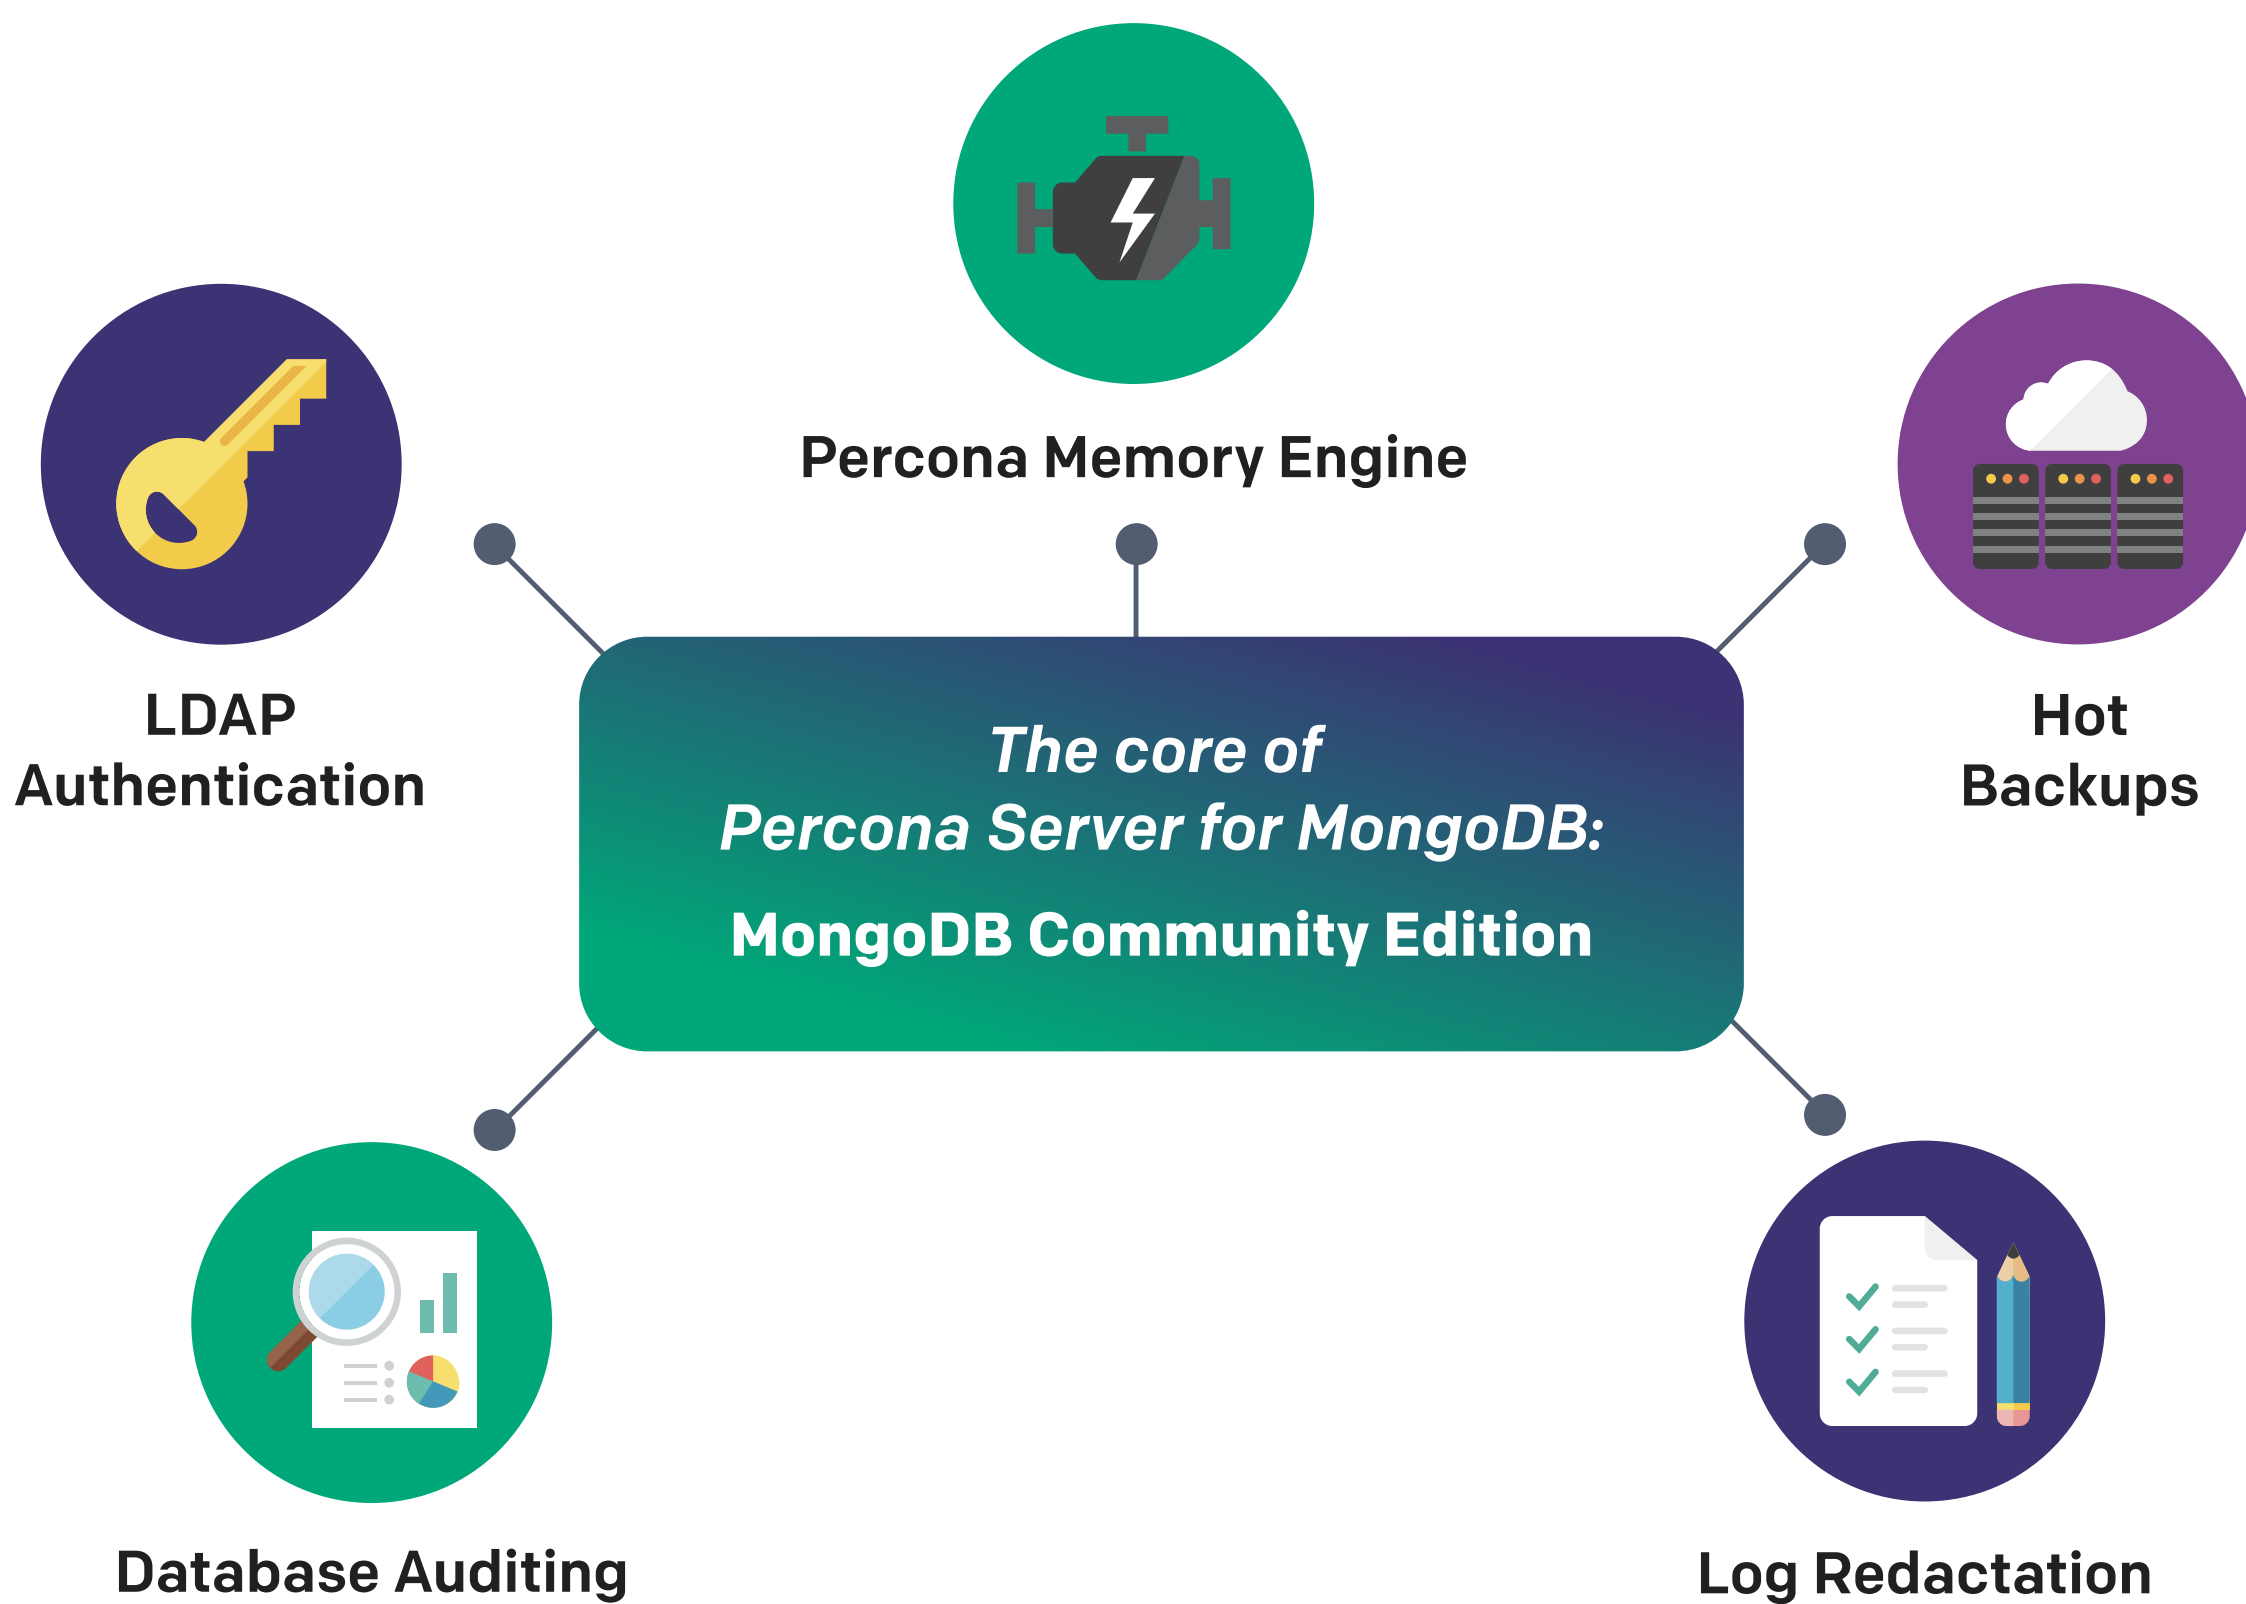

Percona Distribution for MongoDB - An Alternative Solution

MongoDB Community Edition is at the core of Percona Distribution for MongoDB. It automatically includes features such as native high availability, distributed transactions, a flexible data schema, and the familiarity of JSON documents.

Percona Distribution for MongoDB doesn't stop there! The Percona Memory Engine in-memory storage engine, HashiCorp Vault integration, data-at-rest encryption, audit logging, external LDAP authentication with SASL, and hot backups, combine to deliver a complete package that maximizes performance and streamlines database efficiencies.

To make it enterprise-ready, we add in the encryption, security, usability, and scale features that our customers demand. Finally, we bundle all these features, fixes, and enhancements together, and make them available to all users — for free!
